Downloading & Installing VMware Horizon Client

To access Kindred Workspace from a personal computer, you must download and install the VMware Horizon Client. This free download provides the core, functional components that allow you to remotely launch Kindred applications and systems.
1. From your personal computer, open your internet browser.
2. Browse to www.vmware.com/go/viewclients.
3. Click the version drop down and choose 7 (5.0)).
4. Click the Go to Downloads link for your type of computer (Windows or Mac).
5. Click the Download Now button. The installation package will begin to download. Based upon your internet connection speed, the download process could take several minutes.
6. Open your download file location and double click the Horizon Client installation package. This location may vary depending upon your computer type and internet browser.
7. Follow the on-screen instructions to install the VMware Horizon client (provided screenshots are from a Windows 10 computer)
    a) If prompted, confirm the action to allow the installer to make changes to your computer.
    b) If prompted, click Finish once the Horizon Client is installed.
    c) You may be prompted to restart your computer. Save any documents and then click Restart.

You are now ready to access your Kindred applications and systems remotely from your personal computer!

As a reminder, the Kindred Workspace is available from the Kindred website (www.kindred.com) > Employees > Remote Access. Then, click the Login to Kindred Workspace button. You'll be asked to confirm your identity during sign-in.

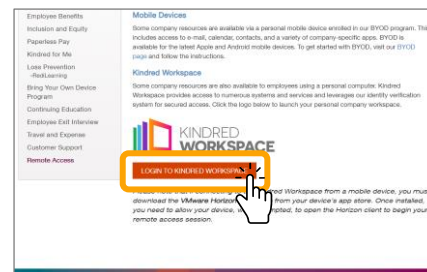

Visit the VMware client website and choose Horizon 7 (5.0) from the version drop down. Then, choose to download the appropriate version for your type of computer.

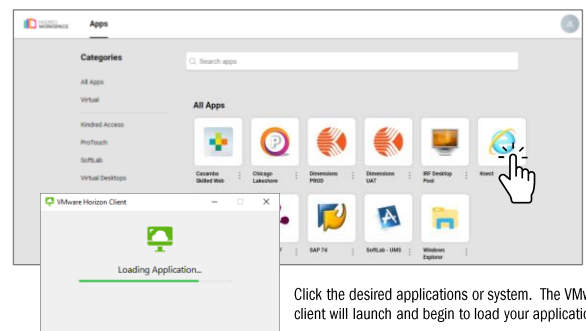

Click the Download Now button.

Launch the installation package, follow the installation prompts, then click Finish. You may be prompted to restart your computer.

Once installed, visit the Employees section of the Kindred website. From the Remote Access page, click Login to Kindred Workspace.

Click the desired applications or system. The VMware client will launch and begin to load your application.
